

The Way of Kinship

These are some of the key themes Kincentric Leadership explores in programmes, retreats & workshops. We can tailor these to be a close match with your organisational strategy, needs and audience.

Ancient origins: Kinship with Earth and it's roots in indigenous wisdom

Shifting mindsets: From anthropocentric to ecocentric to kin-centric

Re-imagining belonging: Re-rooting ourselves in relationship with land

Scientific revolution: Mindblowing new discoveries about non-human intelligence

Through the looking glass: Imagination, intuition and embodied play as doorways to understanding non-human sensory realities and lifeworlds

Everything speaks! Animal behaviourists and AI are decoding animal communication

Radical inclusion: How do we govern on behalf of nature and with nature?

Natural intelligence: Struggling to solve climate change? Biomimicry has the answer!

Beyond biomimicry: Collaborate with nature to create mutual thriving for all life

Leading from within the web of life: The 36 capacities of kincentric leadership

Practical case-studies: Stories from the 15 most inspiring kincentric leaders around the world, and how they are helping to re-weave humanity back into the wider web

Land vigils: The transformative practice of listening to the living world

From connection to communion: New techniques for deepening relationship with nature

From loss to love: The transformative power of working consciously with eco-grief

Decolonising time: Reclaiming our relationship with Earth time and natural cycles

Sacred ecology: Re-inventing religion and spirituality for a planetary era

Frontiers in equality: After patriarchy and racism, overcoming speciesism?

Imagination activism: Freeing the conditioned mind to envision kincentric futures
